

Dear Arlene,

Re the proposed sale of Pitlochry Town Hall to a fledgling charity for £1:

I object for the following reasons:

- I object, on principle, to the sale of any publicly-owned property to anyone, let alone the sale of an historic valuable property to a one-year-old charity for £1.
- if the charity disbands, at some point, what will happen to our town hall? Will the money from the sale go back into the public purse or elsewhere?
- who controls this charity?
- is it being earmarked for a "community hub" that no one asked for?
- is this responsible management of public assets?

My suggestions

- ~~either~~ ① ~~sell~~ rent it out for an income to the charity and charge a realistic rent to provide an income for the public purse
- or ② convert it into flats for local families but maintain the exterior
- "consultation"

I realise this is likely to be an exercise in "the manufacture of consent" (delphi technique) but wanted to express my objections, anyway.
